PATH OF HISTORY & BOMB SHELTER TOUR

Metropole's bomb shelter served to protect guests including famous visitors like Joan Baez and Jane Fonda from air raids during the American War (1964–1973). After the war the bunker was closed and sealed until a chance rediscovery by the hotel's engineering department during the renovation of the Bamboo Bar in 2011. It was reopened in May 2012 to honour the extraordinary efforts of employees during shared hardships of wartime. Today, this space serves as a memorial to their courage and perseverance and to remember what should never be forgotten.

Daily tours of Metropole's Path of History and the bomb shelter with Ambassador of History are offered, exclusively for guests staying at the hotel at 5 and 6pm.

LEGENDARY EXPERIENCE

The Hotel Metropole Hanoi is an award-winning French colonial-style hotel lying in the heart of Hanoi, near Hoan Kiem Lake and the magnificent Opera House.

Boasting a classical white façade, green shutters, original wrought iron detail, wood paneling and a lush courtyard lawn, the hotel is one of the region's few remaining hotels of its era.

Built in 1901 by two private French investors, the hotel quickly became the rendez-vous point for colonial society in the first half of the century. Following Vietnamese independence in the 1950s, the new national government opted to maintain it as the official hotel for visiting VIP's. During and after the war years, it became a base for press and diplomats.

On 1st July 2009, the Hotel Metropole Hanoi became the world's first Sofitel Legend hotel. The hotel now boasts 364 rooms with a choice of 3 restaurants, 3 bars, a swimming pool, health club, and newly opened luxurious Le Spa du Metropole using top high-end spa products (Ytsara and Laurent Severac). Sofitel Legend Metropole Hanoi is an oasis of charm in the heart of Hanoi, blending the legendary hospitality of the Vietnamese people with the finest facilities befitting its European heritage.
